

Cottolene is not for table use, but it is the best cooking fat for all shortening and frying. If you are using butter in your kitchen you are paying at least twice as much as necessary to secure the same results with Cottolene.

Another point of economy about Cottolene - use one-third less than you would of butter or lard

Cottolene is a clean, pure product, and makes wholesome, healthful, digestible food, because it is a vegetable and not an animal fat.

Made only by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY TRY THIS RECIPE:

Fry Trout, Perch, Herring and other small pan fish whole. Cut large fish in 1 inch thick slices, 2 or 3 inches square. Remove skin and bones from sliced fish, wipe dry, roll in bread crumbs or fine meal, then in beaten eggs, then in crumbs, and fry in deep Cottslene hot enough to brown a bit of bread while you count sixty. Drain well before serving, a simply cover with seasoned meal and brown on each side in bot Cottolese in frying pan.

Advice To the Lovelorn By Beatrice Fairfux.

LET THE OTHER GIRL HAVE HIM.

I am a girl of 19 and ln love with a man of 25 and have been going with him for two months. Every lime he takes me out he says that he likes me, but does not say that he loves me. There is another girl after him and he tells me he does not like her, but my friend said she saw him with her. He has not taken me out in with her. He has not taken me out in a long time and I do not know what is the matter with him. My parents do not like him because he is a divorced man. He is neglecting you, showing that he no longer cares for you, and your parents object to him.

Under the circumstances I think you will have a happier and more peaceful time If you let the other girl have him.

HIS REMARKS SIGNIFY NOTHING, Dear Miss Fairfax:

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 20, and am going out with a young man a few years my senior for the last six or saven weeks. I am learning to love him more and more daily, and as my folks are starting in gusetion me regarding him, and he doesn't seem to say anything, but occasionally he remarks that men are foolish when they marry, should I give him up or wait, as I have plenty it and certain that they are your leads of the low formula of the last that they are your it and certain that they are your leads of the last six or seven weeks. MOST CERTAINLY NOT.

Dear Miss Falrfax:

I have been keeping company with a gentleman for the past six months, in which time we have had two or three elight quarrels, not amounting to very much, and after they are all over we seem to love each other more than ever. He is very nice when we are alone, but as soon as we meet any of his friends or my friends (which is very very seldom) he is very cold and indifferent to me and almost ignores me. Another thing is, I love him very, very much and would do most anything for him, hut at times I find myself criticiaing him, not his clothes, but his—well, I hardly know what to say, it is perhaps because he seems so young to me. He is 22 (I am 16). Now, do you really think I could be happy if I married him?

If everything else were in his favor, the culercess to you when others are Miss Fairfax: ried him?

If everything else were in his favor, his rudeness to you when others are present is enough to condemn him. Let your next quarrel be the last; you are

Cures Rheumatism

ic Pains Away

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all orippled up, and bent out of shape "with its beart-wrenching pains, when you can ensily avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and urle acld; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery and can't possibly cure you.

The only way to cure rheumatism Is to remove the cause. The new discovery. Croxone, does this because it neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and Strengthens the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter the peison from the blood, and drive it on and out of the system.

of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made for curing chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles, and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing cise on earth like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is pratically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all your misery and suffering will end.

too young to marry, and too young to play with love. WHO WAS IN THE WRONG!

Dear Miss Fairfax:
I am 18 and in love with a young nan of 20 and have been going with itm for one year and love him very much. We parted six months ago, and I would like to go with him again.

Lillie. Dear Miss Fairfax:

While it is true that it takes two to make a quarrel, it is just as true that one starts it.

If you were in the wrong, write him a note of apology. There is nothing more you can do.

UNDER CERTAIN CONDITIONS. ear Miss Fairfax:

Would you accept an invitation from a girl who was asked by one of your boy Iriends to entertain you for one night so you could attend a dance in that town?

If the girl is of good family and of your set, the invitation would be proper and could be accepted.

LOTS OF QUESTIONS. Dear Miss Fairfax:

give him up or wait, as I have plenty of other admirers, but care for none but him.

If he says men are foolish to marry, it is evident the thought of marrying is in his mind. It seems to me your anxiety is premature. He has been calling on you only a few weeks, which is entirely too soon for him to know his own mind. Give some of your time to your other admirers. It will be good for both of you.

If he says men are foolish to marry, it is likely to cause embarrassment. A girl is under no obligations to the boy who gives her his frat plu, but among college boys and girls it is accepted as almost equivalent to an engagement announcement. It is unnecessary to answer your query about the impropriety of giving a boy a kiss. You know it is improper, it depends on how many sances a girl wants to give a boy, just how many she gives him. a boy, just how many she gives him. However, if she gives one boy too many, the others are likely to stop asking her to dance.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Would it be proper for me to accept an invitation to stay all night with a girl when I go to a dance in another town, when I was never introduced to her? However, I've been in her com-pany.

Helen. The answer to "Blue Eyes," printed above, covers your case also.

NOT NECESSARY. Dear Miss Fairfax:

When a boy and a girl have corres-onded for a year and they "bust up," thould she send him back his letters, of seep them, or what? He asked me if I wanted mine, and I told him I didn't care what he did with them, as I hadn't written a thing I was ashamed of. Must I send him his? It's been two menths since the fuss.
"Blue Eyes."

If he saked for the return of his letters, and you had saved them, it would be proper to return them. If he has not asked for them, and it was two months ago that you decided to "quit" then you would be perfectly justified in destroying them, if you wished. He probably did not expect that you had been keaping them, hence did not ask you to return them. People these days do not save and treasure letters as they once did and the "return of my letters" is not requested as often as it used to be.

The Diary of A Bachelor He Wonders It Spirit of Departed Mr. Brown Can Help Him Out of His Trouble.

I would ask for the spirit of the late Mr. Brown.

It would be a heinous thing, I know, Diary, to call back a man who has fied from married life in this world to the peaceful harbor of the hereafter, but my need is great, and the late Mr. Brown alone can help me.

The spirit of the late Mr. Brown cannot help me; I am in a net spread by his widow, and it is human experience that no ghost of the departed ever interfered with the plans and schemes of the widow left behind. On the contrary, it would seem that he died and left her his fortune that she might spend it on soft silken net. I am quite sure that Mrs. Brown is in a better position to meet marriageable men, while living in luxury on her late husband's money, than if she were measuring off muslins in a department store.

I knew the night the widow asked me to kins her that there was a warning, brief, but explicit, in the little book on "Women and Her Ways," which Mrs. Jack Spencer had written for me. But alas the porch was dark, and I haven't the eyes of the owl. I did not look for the warning that night. Somehow I was not in a mood to look for warnings.

BENSON WANTS A SCHOOL OF MINES

Benson, Ariz, Feb. 21.—Within a short time the industrial school will be moved away from Benson. Live boosters in the town want the building to be used for a school if mines, to be conducted as a part of the University or Arizona. There is also talk of converting it into a normal school. Hensonites are asking one another what has become of the mineral exhibit that was to have been placed between the railroad effice and the express station. Some say that the board of trade turned down the proposition because the railroad company wanted $3 a year rent for the space.
